NEWS ABOUT TOWN

By Mrs. Calvin Robinson

Don't forget to collect waste paper, magazines, etc. for the Boy Scouts Saturday is the day for their collection. This is a part of Clean-Up Week in Appomattox.

So far the weather has not been suitable for the annual Clean-Up effort around town. This was supposed to have been the week, but I suggest that we just continue our efforts until the job is done.

Many have not had their gardens plowed—and it is time for many things to have been planted. Hope the neighbors will have a garden!

We went down to see the new garment plant this week: The Virginia Novelty Company. Mr. Leonard Anderson took us over the new plant. They make juvenile dresses, and he showed us the first one that came off the "assembly line." Had it hanging on the wall as a souvenir. More workers are being added as equipment is installed. A principal problem is the lack of facilities for the care of workers—but it takes time to get a new project working perfectly!

Lots of baseball fans went up to Lynchburg yesterday to see the big league exhibition game. The score was not even close, 14 to 3.

I see lots of new spring merchandise in our stores. Shop around Appomattox and you will find up-to-date stores, and fine selections for your inspection.

Asia's Political Alignments Change

Since World War II, Soviet Russia—the world's largest country—has expanded its borders by an area more than equal to all New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina. In addition it has communized nine neighboring countries.

In the same period, Western nations linked by the North Atlantic Treaty have granted freedom to 13 Asiatic lands containing one-fourth of the human race.

Russia, now sprawled from the Bering Sea to the Baltic, is 2.87 times the size of the continental United States and counts one-third more people. Beyond its expanded western border but within its tight political orbit are Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, and Albania.

On the coast, Russia's satellites are the Mongolian People's Republic (formerly China's Outer Mongolia), and—heavily outweighing Yugoslavia's refusal to be a Russian puppet—China itself, with 452 million inhabitants. Aggressive communism creates current turmoil in Korea, Indochina, Malaya and Tibet.

In contrast, six of the 13 Asiatic states newly controlling their own destiny have emerged from territory under Great Britain or British mandate—India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma, Israel, and Jordan. The word "French" has been dropped from the name Indochina, now composed of three French Union-associated free states—Viet Nam, Cambodia, and Laos. Syria and Lebanon were released from French mandate status in April, 1946.

Controls on Tree Pests Needed Before Spring

February and March is the time for property owners who have shade and fruit trees on their lawns to begin slapping on controls — controls against bugs and diseases.

Long before someone thought up wage-price controls, the grain farmer, the vegetable grower, the orchardist clamped on controls (insecticides and fungicides) to insure better production and build up defenses against attack.

Dormant spraying with miscible oil or lime sulphur will kill egg masses overwintering on underside of twigs, around buds and leaf scars and in cracks and crevices of bark. Don't wait until damage by scale insects, cankerworms, aphids, gypsy moths, tent caterpillars, brown-tail moths shows up in spring. Prices might be rolled-back, but not insect damage once it begins.

It is safe to dormant spray all shade trees with miscible oil except thinbarked trees such as sugar maple, beech, butternut, black walnut, Japanese walnut and magnolias, and some of the evergreens. The spray should be applied when the temperature is between 40° F and 65° F. Above and below these temperatures, oil may be liberated and cause damage. Avoid spraying on cloudy days because the oil does not dry so rapidly. Apply thoroughly but lightly, being certain to completely cover the bark on the underside of twigs out to the tips. Do not drench a tree.

Tomorrow's Wonders

Applications of chemistry and physics to agriculture which will produce results undreamed of by even an H. G. Wells are envisioned. Ultrasonic waves and radioactive fertilizers are among the weapons of the future which will be used to fight plant disease. An underground gas attack that wipes out nematodes, or eelworms, by the millions, already is helping American farmers to conquer the mysterious "soil sickness" which has plagued their crops for generations. Petroleum chemicals which can be applied in liquid form and which turn into gas on entering the soil have proved remarkably effective against the multitudinous and costly nematodes. Specific nematocides, as the compounds are called, have been fashioned to suit soil conditions and temperatures in various parts of the country, so that each farmer can select the weapon best fitted to his needs.

Local banks and state workers will observe a holiday tomorrow, April 13, the occasion being Jefferson's birthday.
